Subject: Information on TB and Russia

Given that today was International TB day, I thought you may be interested in a piece by Dr Rostislav Mitrofanov of Siberia's Novosibirsk Tuberculosis Research Institute (NTRI) on tuberculosis and Russia. Dr. Mitrofanov's piece is featured on ModernRussia.com, run by Ketchum on behalf of the Russian government.

If you have any questions regarding this piece or other health care in Russia issues, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Best,
Anna

Subject: TUESDAY: Briefing at RIA on Modernization Commission meeting

Hello,

I'm writing from Ketchum on behalf of the Russian Federation.

On Tuesday, 29 March at 10:00 Moscow time, there will be a briefing at RIA Novosti to discuss the 30 March Modernization Commission meeting in Magnitogorsk titled "The Preparation of an Engineering Workforce." The briefing will feature remarks from Presidential Aide Arkady Dvorkovich, Deputy Minister of Education and Science Alexey Ponomarev, and Deputy Minister of Industry and Trade Andrei Dementiev.

Tuesday's briefing will also preview presentations to be delivered at Wednesday's Modernization Commission meeting by the Minister of Education and Science Andrey Fursenko, Minister of Industry and Trade Viktor Khristenko, Executive Director of OAO Magnitogorsk Iron & Steel Works Yuri Bodyaev and the Director of the Magnitogorsk State Technical University Valery Kolokoltsev.

Pre-registration for the RIA briefing is preferred, which can be done via RIA's website or by contacting Olga Koleva at +7-985-773-10-12.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Best,
Anna

LSE forum discusses Russian business system

Posted: 24 Mar 2011 10:43 AM PDT

Russia has come a long way since perestroika. It has secured its place amongst the world's ten largest economies, and is growing rapidly. Hundreds of international companies are now represented in Russia and many strategic partnerships have been formed. Russia deserves credit for such a transition.

Michael Harms on German businesses' positive prospects in Russia

Posted: 21 Mar 2011 09:00 PM PDT

The economic and financial crisis is clearly over for German companies active in the Russian market. An overwhelming majority of German firms expect Russia to experience stable economic development in 2011, and one in nine even foresee a strong business upturn, according to a survey conducted at the end of last year by the Committee on Eastern European Economic Relations and the German-Russian Chamber of Commerce.

Deutsche Bank: Investor perceptions of Russia “favorable” at annual forum

Posted: 21 Mar 2011 03:18 PM PDT

Deutsche Bank is one of the longest serving foreign lenders in Russia and for the past nine years has hosted an annual Russia One-on-One forum at which investors gather in London to discuss the Russian market. Igor Lojevsky, chief country officer of Deutsche Bank Russia and CIS, talks to ModernRussia.com about this year's forum and reasons for the company's commitment to Russia.
